

Article Link<https://www.npr.org/sections/money/2018/07/25/632444815/episode-855-the-poop-ca...>

NPR's Planet Money on Breaking Up Senegal's "Poop Cartels"

NPR's Planet Money interviews economist Molly Lipscomb along with current and former IPA staff, and goes to Senegal to describe our work there. Veteran economics journalist Robert Smith explains how markets for household "desludging" waste removal weren't working, keeping essential services out of many households' reach, and what IPA did about it.

July 26, 2018